DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jenkins et al.
3. Patentees disclose a polyurethane composition for foaming comprising an isocyanate-reactive material (col. 2 lines 9-21) having the claimed equivalent weight, water (col. 3 line 56 and col. 4 line 21), the claimed amount catalyst (col. 8 line 46), a surfactant (col. 5 first full par. I.e. lines 6 and 7) and an isocyanate based prepolymer having the claimed molecular weight (col. 7 lines 58 et.seq.
4. It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to use the claimed proportions of water in the reference composition since said water controls the degree of carbon dioxide production during the foaming process. Therefore the amount of foaming involved in the claimed would determine the desired density one skilled in the art wished to attain.

5. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Morton Foelak whose telephone number is (703) 308-2442. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday thru Friday.
